"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for building up weight and less nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than any medicine I saw. A well-known gentleman, in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition, 'I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestive, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer, and almost everything else you could think of, but without result. I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable successes brought about by the use of Protone, so I decided to try it myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just thirty pounds during the last month, and never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life.'"

Protone is a powerful inducer of nutrition, increases cell-growth, makes perfect the assimilation of food, increases the number of blood corpuscles, and as a necessary result builds up muscles and solid, healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

For women, who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness, this remarkable treatment is a revelation. It is a beauty-maker, as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener.

DOCTOR PEEVES DOCTOR COMMITTEE

Rockefeller Physician's Appearance Resented by Various Members.

WILL EXAMINE FINANCIER

Probers Decide, However, to Take Money King's Testimony, Despite His Condition.

Dr. Walter F. Chappell, of New York, Rockefeller's physician, appeared before the investigating committee yesterday and testified under oath that any attempt on the part of the committee to examine Mr. Rockefeller would endanger his life. Notwithstanding this, the committee in executive session again vowed to take Mr. Rockefeller's testimony.

It is understood that the committee voted seven to one, Mr. Upso, the chairman, being the only member who opposed the proposed examination. It is the understanding now that the committee will make an effort to examine Mr. Rockefeller in New York, possibly next week, but there have been suggestions that Mr. Rockefeller would carry the matter into the courts before he will submit.

Dr. Chappell appeared before the committee to explain in greater detail Mr. Rockefeller's condition. He said that his patient had four convulsions of the larynx, hemorrhage, and an irritation of the larynx which was very dangerous for him to become excited or to undergo a sustained effort to use his voice. These conditions were laryngeal spasms, edema of the larynx, hemorrhage, and an irritation of the larynx which was very dangerous for him to become excited or to undergo a sustained effort to use his voice.

Narrow Margin for Life.

"It is now a very narrow margin for his life," said the New York specialist. "Everything has been done that can be done in operations. He has no further recourse left if he has another severe hemorrhage. Dr. Chappell agreed with the report which the committee physician, Dr. Charles W. Richardson, had made in regard to Mr. Rockefeller. Dr. Chappell pointed out, however, that Dr. Richardson had not had an opportunity to see Mr. Rockefeller since he was suffering from a spasm of the larynx. It was because he had not had such an opportunity that Dr. Chappell believed it to be his duty to appear before the committee and warn them of the dangerous consequences that might result from an examination attended with excitement.

It was apparent that the appearance of Dr. Chappell before the committee was resented by some members. Representative Neely of Kansas openly protested when he entered the committee room and found that Mr. Rockefeller's physician had been permitted to go upon the stand as a witness without his knowledge. Representative Neely and one or two other members of the committee feared that it would be construed as a reflection on the committee's own physician, Mr. Intervenor and Chairman Upso had to soothe Mr. Neely some time to prevent a public protest.

The action of the committee in insisting upon examining Mr. Rockefeller is against the advice of Samuel Intervenor, the committee's counsel. In fact, there seems to be good reason to believe that Mr. Intervenor may refuse to assume the responsibility of questioning Mr. Rockefeller.

Pope Pius Postpones Mass.

Rome, Jan. 22.—Owing to the early date of Easter, the Pope has decided to postpone until Pentecost the mass which His Holiness was to have celebrated on Easter Sunday in honor of the 1,600th anniversary of the signing by Emperor Constantine of the edict making Christianity the official religion of the state. Official announcement of the postponement was made by the Vatican today. His Holiness believes that by postponing the mass until a later date more persons will be able to attend.

Banish Those Ugly Pimples

Skin Cleared in a Short Time by Stuart's Calcium Wafers, the Greatest Blood Purifier Known.

Pimples, blotches, skin eruptions of all kinds, are simply the impurities in the blood coming to the surface. All the external treatment is of no use unless you don't do a particle of good unless you purify the blood. And there's nothing so humiliating as a face that's all "broken out" and spotted.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will clear the most obstinate complexion, because they go right into the blood and remove the cause of the trouble. The blood is cleansed of all impurities and foreign substances, and these are quickly eliminated from the system. You'll notice a wonderful change in a few days—you will hardly know yourself in a week.

CITIZENS TO MAKE INCOME STATEMENTS

Commissioner of Revenue Will Soon Distribute Personal Interrogatories to Residents.

Alexandria, Va., Jan. 22.—The personal interrogatories of the state, requiring citizens to furnish a sworn statement of their incomes, have been received by Commissioner of Revenue Charles H. Callahan and will soon be distributed. Under the law, taxpayers are required to furnish a list of all property, money, credits or other subjects of taxation, and the value thereof.

Failure to furnish sworn answers to these interrogatories means that the taxpayer shall forfeit not less than $20 or more than $100 and will be fined not less than $20 or more than $100 if he refuses to exhibit to the commissioner of the revenue or his deputy, the property mentioned.

Under the law a property owner who makes a false list of personal property must be proceeded against by the attorney for the Commonwealth, trial to be by jury. If a verdict is rendered establishing a false list, the court shall render judgment for double the amount of the taxes, for the costs, and for $5 fee for the attorney for the Commonwealth, and the court shall direct the treasurer of the county or city, upon ten days' notice, to sell for cash the property of the taxpayer.

The tax sheets were sent out in this city last year and many more were sent to a general misunderstanding over them.

It is thought, however, that this time the taxpayers will be more familiar with the sheets and be more speedy in making their returns.

Fifty per cent of this amount went to the local organization, and the balance of $64.90 was sold by Albert Bryan, and he was awarded a cash prize of $5 for having sold the largest number. The treasurer reported there was available on hand January 1 the sum of $200.55.

William Bailey, colored, who was arrested Saturday on a capias, was yesterday released by Judge J. M. Hill. He is charged with carrying a concealed weapon. He is charged with carrying a concealed weapon without a government license.

Eugene E. Fisher, of Palm Beach, Va., was arrested on a capias and brought here early this morning by United States Marshal William Schuchman, and committed to jail. He is charged with sending improper matter through the mails. Fisher expects to give bond very shortly.

All of the clerical force employed at the Potomac transfer, Potomac railroad yards, Alexandria County, with the exception of four, have now been vaccinated owing to the development of a case diagnosed as smallpox by one of the clerks, whose home is in Washington. The clerks are being kept under observation by the District and county health authorities, although it is not believed that there will be a spread of the epidemic. The four who were not vaccinated showed that they have been vaccinated before.

The local musical organization known as "Shiraz and Sons" which recently presented the opera entitled "The Mikado," will hold a banquet within a short time at Lee Camp Hall. At this banquet the question of deciding whether or not "The Mikado" will be repeated, and also what play will be presented next will be determined upon.

The funeral of William E. Groby, who died at the Alexandria Hospital, took place this afternoon from Wheatley's undertaking chapel. The services were conducted by Rev. James L. F. Kelly, of St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial was at Mount Vernon and Marshall Hall Steamboat Company.

Plans for the opening of the Westminster Building, for the Second Presbyterian Church, will be made by the church and clerical staff of the church, which will be held Sunday next, following the church services. It is expected that the building, now nearing completion, will be formally opened about March 1 next. The building is located at the north-east corner of Prince and St. Asaph Streets.

Henry Stevens, colored, who recently entered a plea of guilty to feloniously stabbing Peter Snellings, of this city, and was sentenced to serve a term of two years in the penitentiary, was this afternoon taken to that institution by Guard R. M. Johnson.

The body of Mrs. Jennie McCormick Miller, who was killed by a train, was shipped to-night to Rising Springs, Pa., for interment.

The Alexandria Light Infantry will Monday night next, following its regular drill, elect a second lieutenant.

"LOAN SHARK" BILL

It Is Expected to Pass the House Today.

The "loan shark" bill will probably pass the House today. Representative L. C. Eyer, who is in charge of the conference report on the bill, announced after an unsuccessful effort to bring the report up yesterday, that he would call it up today.

GOSSIP ON SUBJECTS OF INTEREST IN TWO CONTINENTS

(Copyright, 1913, by Court Gossip Syndicate.)
The true cause why Prince Ludwig, the sixty-eight-year-old regent of Bavaria, who succeeded his father, the nonagenarian Prince Luitpold, to the regency of the second largest of the federated German states upon the latter's death several weeks ago, has declined to have himself proclaimed King in place of his incurably insane cousin, King Otto, is that he could not do so unless the Bavarian Parliament first enacted a law deposing the mad ruler.

Such a proceeding would create a precedent that might result in danger to the monarchical system and to the Wittelsbach dynasty, especially in these days of skepticism toward the "divine right" theory, so much ridiculed in these enlightened times by the equal rights. It must be taken in consideration, and Prince Ludwig evidently is wise enough to do so, that the Social Democrats already possess a majority of the ballot in several of the minor German states, and as ruler of the second largest state in the federation no one can blame Prince Ludwig for the stand he has taken in trying to ward off the possibility of a sovereign being deposed by a jury, as was recently done in the case of a Bavarian duke, Duke Maximilian of Baden, who was deposed by a jury of the people.

Perhaps present-day conditions as to the Bavarian succession are all for the best, and I have held the belief that the late Regent Luitpold knew what he was about when he adamantly declined all overtures to place the Wittelsbach crown upon his old brow. Considering the deep-rooted animosity of the Bavarians (a strong Catholic country) toward Prussia and Hohenzollern, I doubt very much whether Bavaria would adhere long to the federation, with a sovereign ruler at the helm who might be obliged to make concessions to the ultra-mountain party, the strongest element in the kingdom and the Palatinate.

Though both Teutons, men of the same race and nation, Bavarians and Prussians never have been friendly. This inexplicable hatred has cropped out on all occasions. The two countries drawing the sword against each other in the slightest provocation. This was done no later than in 1866 when the Bavarians took up arms in behalf of Austria against Prussia, which, after badly defeating the Austrians at Gitschin and Koenigsgratz, sent an army corps to meet the combined Bavarian and Hanoverian forces, which at Langensalza had to surrender. Strange to say, Bismarck, while annexing, as a punishment, the kingdom of Hanover, let Bavaria go scot-free. Perhaps the Prussian Chancellor had the money to please himself, if she will be able to put up with a husband of such a past and reputation, though he now occupies a very high and distinguished place in the British peerage.

BRUSHED THE LAW ASIDE.

The Way Witches Were Tried in Massachusetts in 1692.

From the Boston Herald.
When the witchcraft delusion of 1692 seized the province of Massachusetts, the people would not wait for the workings of the established tribunals of justice. It was too slow to suit them. So they cried out for a special court to hustle along the trial of witches, and Governor Phillips frankly related to the clamor and named seven judges to conduct the trial.

It was distinctly a popular court, and was controlled absolutely by the popular will. Not a single one of the seven judges was a lawyer. Two of the judges were clergymen, two were physicians, and three were merchants. The common law was thrown aside, rules of evidence were ignored, and the judges and jurors were left untrammelled by any "quibbles of the law" to follow their own feelings and the popular will.

Says Washington in his "Judicial History of Massachusetts": "The trials were held in a form of executing popular vengeance. Jurors were intimidated by the threats and persuasions of the court and by the outcries of the multitude that surrounded the trial to render verdicts against their own consciences and judgment." He cites one case, that of Rebecca Nurse, in which the jury actually had the courage to bring in a verdict of not guilty, whereupon "the accusers raised a great outcry and the judges were overcome by the clamor." The jury was sent back, returned with a verdict of guilty, and the woman was accordingly executed.

Atlanta, Ga., will in May entertain three Presbyterian general assemblies.
